

What Causes UGLY, ROOF STAINS, Can They Be Removed?

Most roof stains are a result of algae and/or fungus growing on the roof. These organisms thrive on dust, pollen and the organic materials that make up the roof. Dampness triggers their growth. Stains are usually more prominent on north and west exposures or shaded areas. Algae and/or fungus grows on, under and behind the tiny granules that cover the shingles. This results in unsightly stains and streaks on your roof. Trying to remove roof stains with high-pressure washing will damage the shingles, reducing their life expectancy. High-pressure washing will remove the algae and/or fungus only from the tops of these granules. The algae and /or fungus continues to grow under and around the granules and the stain comes right back. Chlorine bleach can also remove some of the stains temporarily, however they will be back in a short period of time, usually in less than six months!

Independent applicators use our 40+ year old proven trade secret process. This includes our uniquely designed High Volume, Low Pressure roof stain removing equipment, non-chlorine Color-Restorer™ to dissolve algae, fungus and their stains from your roof and Stain-Block™ algae & fungus inhibitor to keep them off for the life of the roof.* After the RB® time tested, field proven treatment and state of the art technology is performed on your roof, no one will be able to tell that your roof was ever stained.
